scholars and clinicians will discuss recent insights from research and clinical practice in an attempt to further the field. The book "The Great Psychotherapy Debate Second Edition" is reviewed by May 1st, 2020, and the second edition by May 18th, 2020. The second edition updates the previous one to expand the contextual model derived from scientific understanding and explains findings from various psychotherapies. The medical model of psychotherapy has led us to accept clients as inert and passive objects on whom we operate and medicate. Gene V. Glass declared in The Great Psychotherapy Debate 2001, p. ix, in the 1957 publication in the Journal of Consulting Psychology that Carl Rogers boldly declared.
